Jules Burns, COO, All3Media

I am pleased to be able to endorse NonVerba's eSecurus Resilience on a Page Solution, which has been deployed within all UK companies of the All3Media Group.

The solution provides access at many levels, from primary and secondary plan owners, through Business Continuity Coordinators, Group wide overview and Executive level dashboard reporting.

Focusing on the latter, as COO of the Group, I am able to enjoy 'at a glance' assessment of each company's status. The colour coding is particularly useful as well as the ability for Executive management to drill down and examine shortfalls in any particular area. This provides me with 'state of readiness' reporting, which is key at Board level.

The programme as a whole addressed the disparate cultures of the individual Group companies and has been instrumental in helping to unify our approach to business continuity planning.

Damien Frost, Group Director of IT, All3Media

I am pleased to be able to endorse NonVerba's eSecurus Resilience on a Page Solution. The implementation of the ASP hosted solution was ideal for All3Media Group as it enabled us to implement at speed. The online plan development portals for use by primary and secondary plan owners have proved to be extremely useful. We have been able to develop samples for the tasks sheets associated with each phase of the plan development. To the extent that these have been drawn from within group companies, they are very much tailored to the needs of TV production companies and have helped out plan developers to get past the obstacle of not knowing where to start.

The Group wide overview is extremely useful for keeping central administration up to date. The workflow aspects that allow for central approval of plans before publication to staff within the Group is also extremely useful, as this enables me to ensure consistency.

The cultural awareness presentations and training, which are part of the solution, have all gone well within each of the Group companies and have helped to kick start the process, which otherwise might have involved a lot of executive time.
